presents:

30 Architectural Gems in Nebraska

Thirty existing Nebraska buildings from 1854 to 2009 illustrate function, structure, and beauty to third through seventh graders to enrich their understanding and appreciation of architecture.

“30 Architectural Gems in Nebraska” is a 20-minute DVD learning module targeted at teaching Nebraska students in third through seventh grade public and private schools, and in after school and summer school programs how to appreciate architecture, and the role that architects play in designing the built environment.

The presentation format includes black and white drawings and color images of selected buildings in Nebraska demonstrating basic principals and features of architectural function, structure, and beauty. A carefully scripted narrative leads the viewers on an adventure through 150 years of time and space in Nebraska demonstrating how we have created the architecture in which we live and learn today.

This DVD learning module “30 Architectural Gems in Nebraska” is available free of charge (while supplies last) to public and private schools, and to after-school and summer school programs in the state of Nebraska.
